Out West loses game 5 in over time

Out West finished the Dallas leg of the 2007 tour this evening with a loss to Dallas Diesel. The contest was highly competitive with both teams playing fast paced ball which Out West has become accustomed to with the WBCBL teams. The Diesel, the strongest Dallas team so far in the series, is a touring team that plays most games in the fall against NCAA teams prior to commencement of the college season. Diesel is comprised of former NCAA and professional players.

The lead went back and forth several times during the game. At the half, Out West led by 2. At the end of regulation time, the teams were tied at 72. During the 2 minute overtime, Out West made two costly turnovers and missed key shots resulting in a 82-78 Diesel victory.

Lauren Stagg led Out West in scoring with 18. Kelsey Blair hit for 15, and Marianna Raguz and Ashley Dutchak each scored 13. Blair and Stagg each snapped up 8 defensive rebounds.

Out West now travels to Houston to play the Houston Jaquars on Saturday expected to be the strongest team on the Tour. On Friday, the Out West team will attend a WNBA game at Houston's Toyota Centre between the Houston Comets and the visiting Connecticut Sun.

Out West Extends a Big Thanks !!!

The 2007 Elite Teams thanks Willie McCray and the folks in the WBCBL for the fantastic hospitality during our stay in Dallas. The arrangements made by our hosts were outstanding and beyond our expectations. We value the friendships we have made with Willie, the coaches, and the players in the WBCBL.
